

Trinity Blom

No data centers in New Mexico. If our state is committed to fighting climate change then it will say no to a data center that will produce more greenhouse gases than the three largest cities of New Mexico combined. I also have massive concerns regarding the use of water when our state already suffers from droughts frequently.

New Mexico is one of the most beautiful states in our country and we're so lucky to live here. Please let us not soil this beautiful land for the sake of profit.