

Helen Stork

Data Centers have minimal benefit to our area/region. They could potentially severely impact us environmentally by taxing our essential resources of water and air quality, affordable energy and quality of life. The drain on our resources would produce an environment that could not sustain the essential needs of life in this desert land. I ask you to deny this application which would adversely effect the air quality of our community.