I'm a young girl in highschool, and sometimes I worry that my future isn't guaranteed and that my children will have to be raised without the things that I had. I imagine a future full of clean environments and our world beginning to value mother nature and what she has to offer to keep us alive. Humans are an invasive species, and youre only proving that by allowing this to happen. I want to be able to breathe fresh air and drink clean water. I don't want to live through summers over 100 degrees, I don't want the polar bears to go extinct, and I don't want the people of this world to rely entirely on ai. We've gone years and years without it, why rely on it now? Ai is teaching people to be lazy, without it we had incredible people with amazing imaginations and senses of creativity. You do not need AI to baby you and do things for you, if you do then you're lazy and no better than a spoiled child.
