

Amy England

It's hard to believe we need to express our objection to something so obviously detrimental to our land, water, air, and energy resources that will affect generations to come, and for no other purpose than to generate corporate profits for an entity we have nothing to do with and nothing to gain from. The fact that the people of New Mexico must compete against fabricated comments from a bot farm reveals just how corrupt this process is. I strongly oppose this project.