

Christyl Rosewater

Given the importance and vitality of our current environmental and cultural states, I want to express my deepest concern as a lifelong resident of New Mexico regarding the building of microgrid data centers in our state. The impact of this microgrid will be devastating and felt for many generations beyond the technological bubble bursting. Please do NOT approve of this center and its permit applications.