

Kai Hogan

While I do not live in New Mexico, more less America, I do not want more AI Data centres to take up more water, ecosystem, and animal life than they already have stolen.

The pollution and air quality could be catastrophic to the people in the area. Children will grow up breathing in toxic fumes, people will live in fear of what may happen next. What if this fails? What if everyone gets hurt in the process due to negligence and a rush to finish the project?

Don't do this. What if it was your children? What if it is your children?