

Heather Duke

The amount of water this project will consume is frankly unconscionable. Everything that lives needs freshwater, and, as we are all aware, there is not enough to go around in the state as it is. There's constant water right fights between states, we're in the middle of a drought, and the state is growing. Any so-called financial gains that anyone in the state may receive is not worth the loss of life the loss of water will cause.