

Sue Noel

Daily air and water quality readings should be done and released to the public. Nevada has successfully kept Yucca Mountain from being a high level waste repository. I would like to see New Mexico follow suit as best we can. Public announcements should be made for those who don't have access to the internet.