The rule proposes a minimum 100 foot setback for most counties in Texas, including my own Bexar County. If you calculate the speed dust can travel you will find this setback will do very little to mitigate health and environmental hazards to neighbors of these plants, even with the proposals to reduce this dust by water, chemical and other treatment. Those proposals will help but this setback requirement is too small. Bexar County, with much CBP expansion activity, should be included in the counties with 200 foot minimum setbacks. Thank you.
