

Bess Wilhelms

The biggest issue facing our city is the poor air quality and lack of available walking support. Increased highway construction will only make this worse and make the cities walk ability even less so. The city needs investment in transit, not highways