

D Schoech

I have lived in Arlington since 1971 and my wife died of lung cancer in 2017. She was very healthy except for her lungs which developed COPD and then cancer. The worst part of living in the DFW area is the poor quality of the air. The DFW area has never had air that is considered clean by EPA standards. Your plan simply shifts the financial burden to taxpayers, thus polluters have no incentive to clean up their operations. Please start doing your job and clean up our air.
