

Jonathan Escamilla

I agree with everything except the finger print requirement for licensing. We already have our social security number on file.