This new training is a push back for new operator and current operators. For those doing their job with integrity and professionalism no training is need it, for those who don't care and they are there because the money, any training will change their bad habit's. In my case is hard for me to go to classes, I have pay out of my pocket, drive my own car, pay my hotels. I believe proper training is required to do my job as professional possible, with minimum supervision or none, I make sure I do the right thing even no one is watching. So just don't make it harder than it is, no just for me for the ones we try to encourage to choose this carrer as their future in life!

Thanks
