

Troy Harbison

Adding the ethics course to occupational licenses is unethical. It is just another pointless course just like the the resiliency course. If anything it should be a one time course. But if TCEQ is going to waste our time and resources with another pointless course please make the licenses good for five years instead of three.