

Jesse Huddle

While ethics is important, it is not something that can be taught to a person. Being ethical is something we are raised to be and mostly common sense. I believe TCEQ should stop trying to money grab and pushing training that is not relevant. It's a waste of time and money.