

daniel toplikar

I can not understand ,how looking at the overall placement of this aluminum smelter, that it would not require an inordinate amount of natural gas burning ,and directly next to a ammonium nitrate storage ,and loading area. To me this is a recipe for disaster. Why is this operation not placed somewhere near the air port? No matter how tall the smokestacks Everyone living near this plant site will be living near pollution, and risk!