

Galen Alldrin

Greetings,

I do not see the improvement this is to bring. All of the safety and exposure concerns have been addressed through rules already in place. I am completely opposed to complete open public access, there are extreme people that could cause issues.

What about unfounded complaints that would lead to delays in application and could cause the purpose of the application to be missed, ie the damage is done to the crop.

There is a group that will only be satisfied if all pesticides are band, but will complain about the poor quality of their food.

Thank you for your time.
