Your mission and vision statements are quite false. I rewrote them for you to reflect the truth, which you either know or are not accepting due to educational programming and/or job benefits.

Revised statements:

MISSION: We HARM human health and the environment by fostering sustainable pest management and regulating pesticides so that the most HARMFUL and WORST outcome is possible.

VISION:

Pest management that is safe, effective, and sustainable for our globalists, while KILLING Californians and our environment.

Also, you should have had about 5 different speakers for that "workshop". Why do you call it a workshop? It isn't one for the public but more for yourselves. You need to show the audience and who's asking questions. I let many people know that you and the reader of online questions, intentionally chose NOT to answer all questions online. Not a good or honest look for you.
