

Anonymous Anonymous

Removing permitting and increasing use cases for rodenticide use can only hurt California's natural resources and still-threatened species.