

Monir Brown

Having seen the effects of anticoagulants on rodents, it is a needlessly cruel and painful death. Growing its use would be irresponsible, when there are more humane ways of killing or eliminating pests.