

Elizabeth Chapman

Please please keep strong limits on rodenticides. Owls, hawks, and other predators are already losing out to human impact. My own dog has been terribly sickened recently from digging up a poisoned gopher. There are tedious but effective alternatives to rodenticides that in the longer run are far more effective. The risk and damage of these rodenticides far outweigh the perfectly workable solutions.