

VERONIKA FUKSON

We need to think about the bird population which is sadly decreasing every day. We need to do everything within our means to remove poisons from the environment and I oppose all government regulations which relax their use, including rodenticide.