

Andrea Basile

I urge the board to protect Californians' energy independence and personal finances by NOT adding more costs at the fuel pumps. Instead evaluate the corporations who are actually contributing to green house gas emissions if you are TRULY concerned about environmental impact; don't penalize the everyday hard-working Californian. Protect families and their wallets by opening your eyes to what is a feasible solution; the solution is NOT increasing gas prices for drivers in our great state who are already paying an exorbitant amount at the pump.