Please do not increase gas prices. Now is not the time they are already too high and safe transportation is needed from school and work (it's not a luxury or something we can avoid). California was unfortunately built on roads and freeways not public transport. My husband works from home and that has significantly increased our electric bill. Please do not raise it further. We open our windows and line dry when we can, but we cannot conserve everything with 3 young kids. My husband makes good money, but costs are very high and we cannot have costs continually going up! We have worked hard to get ahead, but the goal posts for "getting ahead" keep getting moved further and further. If it's tough for us there are others suffering much more significantly.
