

John Lee

California's gas prices are already $2.00 more than the national average. Where does this end. The proposed addition hike will hurt family by not only driving up gas price, but it will drive up the cost of groceries, cost of all items that require transportation to move item from one locations to another. It will further drive away CA oil companies, making oil prices in a bad feedback loop to ever increasing gas prices. Please stop this dumb regulation.