

James Rueff

Please do not do anything to increase the costs of either gasoline or electricity. Affordability is a major issue for California right now with the highest gasoline prices in the United States and either the most or second-most expensive electricity rates. Enough is enough.