

Laura Dreschler

At this time in history, when our air is already much cleaner than anywhere else, and our petroleum industry has almost entirely left the state, it is the wrong time to double down on make our restrictions even harder. We need some common sense to our state not a desert of defunct refineries. Please do not pursue the new guidelines. Thank you