

Terry Lynch

Absolutely no amendments that will result in the increase price of gas or make gas, production or oil refining more costly for the companies that are still here. You need to revise regulations that will encourage the ones that love to come back.