

Linda Semmelmayr

Californians cannot afford to pay more for gas. We are already paying some of the highest costs in the country for electricity, water, insurance, housing and gas. The fact that you've chased away most of our refineries and then buy gas from foreign countries that needs to be shipped on boats that pollute the air and come from countries that don't have the regulations and oversight that CA had is bad business and shows you have no regard for the environment. You just want more money. No one will be able to afford to live here. Come to your senses and stop this needless hike in gas prices.