

John Hasier

These amendments are a giant hole in the cap and trade system through which legacy special interest polluters can get exemptions that which simultaneously undermine the credibility of the cap and trade system. The unamended plan from earlier this year should be implemented to give this program its best chance of success at curbing emissions.