

Nick Krebs

The cost of gasoline in California is insane and out of control. Too many regulations are forcing refineries to close, pushing up the cost of gas and forcing us to secure gas from places halfway across the world, vastly increasing the amount of emissions and pollution for the energy that California needs. This proposal should be rejected as it will make it unaffordable to live in the state and punish working class and poor people. This body has done a tremendous amount of harm and needs to be disbanded.