

Vicente Ramos

California air quality has improved immensely with newer cars and increasing numbers of electric cars. There's no need for increasing gasoline tax to add to the burden of most Californians.