

Louis Butel

STOP making new regulations. You are not making a cleaner world. You are killing our state and our livelihood. Please reconsider these actions which will do nothing for the environment but will continue to burden the working poor and middle class. Planes don't fly on electricity. The refineries are needed for the jet fuel, diesel for ships and trucks and gasoline is part of what's left over. This once great state is dyeing due to these type of decisions.