

John Levi

You must exempt a broader range of emergency vehicles so that California can respond to emergencies especially when the power is out. Support vehicles such as trucks that tow fuel to water pumps must be exempt. We need vehicles that can operate around the clock for days on end to keep the water flowing in an emergency. We can't be limited by range, charging access or grid reliability. We need vehicles that can support emergency response.