

Helen Barber

None of these changes are going to make California safer for Californians. Most Californians reject these ridiculous standards as a whole. The elected officials aren't doing the bidding of the people. They're doing the bidding of special interests. Everything they do puts us in greater danger & raises our taxes. We say NO to changing these standards, we would be happy if they were repealed in whole.