

Anonymous Anonymous

I am against any additives or additions to the organic label. Organic means real food, real organic food. Not additives. Please keep the integrity of the label and consider removing other harmful materials. Consider the European Union's food standards as a case study for a better and just food system for the United States