

John Scott

Inert ingredients often include toxic chemicals, but are protected from scrutiny by the “trade secrets” shield offered to industry. For the health of people and the planet it’s time to blow away that smokescreen