

Lisa Ann Kelly and Family

My family and I have kept our property pesticide-free for over 50 years. Prior to that time, we had no idea the long-lasting and terrible harm that pesticides were inflicting on us, and on our land and home. Now we only grow and eat organic foods. We NEVER allow the use of pesticides on our property. We fight locally to keep our city and county free from pesticides. It is shameful that there is such a lack in education and information re: the effects of pesticides and their inert ingredients on wildlife and aquatic creatures. Everything that can be done to stop the use of pesticides, including those thought 'safe' to use, should and must be done. We recently learned that glyphosphates are now found in women's breast milk. When will this madness stop? The USDA has the responsibility of protecting consumers from pesticides and the inert ingredients found in pesticides. Please do the right thing and keep us and our fellow earthlings and our planet free from the hazardous to health and toxic ingredients found in pesticides. Thank you. Sincerely, The Kelly Family (four of us): Lisa Ann Chad George and William
